Every horseman knows that a horse looks twenty per cent better if fattened in a short time, than if several months are employed in the process. I don't believe in loading a horse down with fat-they do better in medium condition. A hose if not very thin, can be put i. condi on in three weeks. But a nar ow h aded, yard-neck, narrow breasen, light quartered animal, if he has never been fat, will give you a two or three months' task; and he will look the better for all the flesh you may put on him.

To fatten a poor horse quickly is no very easy task. It is to be done by a variety of the best of feed, and with close attention in giving it. Many persons feed sufficiently liberal and yet their horses are low in flesh, simply because of the careless and irregular manner in which it is given out. When I wish to fatten a poor horse, I put his stable in a clean neat condition, and com nence by giving him small feeds of corn or oats, (whichever he takes best) every two hours from the time of rising in the morning till I retire at night—say six and in thorterory rariety of articles usually kept at Such an establishment. or eight feeds a day—taking care so to feed that he will always eat it with a relish, and be hungry for the FLOUR by the Barrel or otherwise. next meal. At no time do I suffer his food to lay with him; if he leaves any I take it from him and let film stand until he asks for it. For the first ten days I am careful not to let Bank and Post Office; in W. P. McCabes new him ear quide all he will eat. There building. By paying strict attention for ten days, you will have him fairly under the way; and this is the most difficult part of the task. If at any time he gets cloved so that he reluses to eat let him stand till he gets hungry.

During this time his stable must be kent clean and comfortable, Halls and the same transfer of the stable must be kent clean and comfortable. Halls a specific factor of the same transfer of the same transfer should have but little hay, but as much pure soft water as he will drink three times a day. Salt all the time at his will. He must be curried thoroughly once every day. Few men curry a horse as it should be done. I ake your curry-comb firmly in your hand and with it make a quick motion back and forth, pass all over your horse, getting to the skin and removing the dirt therefrom; Wholesale and Retail Grocers, then pass all over more gently with the comb and brush, replacing the hair, and finish with the naked hand putting every hair in its place. If the seeds of the weeds get in with the manure by putting it on the corn ground, there is a better chance of killing them than when plowed in with stubble for a crop of grain.

Buckwheat Cakes. One Buckwheat cake "differeth from another in glory," yet not one in a thousand is made right. Yet of all things, it is the easiest, to cook, if the meal is made rightly. To every three bushels of buckwheat add one of good heavy oats; add them together, as if they were only buckwheat; thus will you have cakes always light and always brown, to say nothing of the greater digestibility, and the lightening of spirits, which are equally certain. He who feeds on buckwheat may be grum and le-thargic, while he of the oat meal will have exhileration of the brain and contentment of the spirit.
